No distributions were taken during the year; no Form 1099-SA is issued.

Contribution History (Year to Date)

Payroll/cafeteria contributions (code W) are made each pay period through your employer's section 125 cafeteria plan and are already excluded from your W-2 wages.

Direct contributions are made by you from after-tax funds. Your direct contribution this year was 1,300.00.

Total contributions for the year were 4,300.00, which equals the self-only limit of $4,300. Contributions in excess of the limit are subject to a 6% excise tax each year they remain in the account.

If you were not an eligible individual for all twelve months, the last-month rule and a testing period may affect your limit. You had self-only HDHP coverage for all twelve months.

Distributions

No distributions were taken from this HSA during the year. Box 1 of Form 1099-SA would report any distributions; none was issued.

Distributions used exclusively for qualified medical expenses are tax-free. Distributions used for nonqualified purposes are included in income and, if taken before age 65, are subject to an additional 20% tax.

Keep receipts for all medical expenses paid from the account. You are responsible for substantiating that distributions were used for qualified expenses.

Qualified Medical Expenses

Qualified expenses generally include amounts paid for the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease, as described in IRS Publication 502.

Examples include most doctor and dentist visits, prescription medications, vision and dental care, and certain over-the-counter items.

Insurance premiums are generally not qualified expenses, except for limited categories such as COBRA continuation coverage, qualified long-term care insurance, and coverage while receiving unemployment compensation.

Expenses must be incurred after the HSA was established. You may reimburse yourself in a later year for an expense incurred this year, provided the account was open when the expense was incurred.

Eligibility and Limits

To contribute to an HSA you must be covered by a qualifying high-deductible health plan (HDHP), have no other disqualifying coverage, not be enrolled in Medicare, and not be claimed as a dependent.

2025 contribution limits: self-only $4,300; family $8,550. Account holders age 55 and older may contribute an additional $1,000 catch-up.

Enrolling in Medicare ends HSA eligibility; plan contributions accordingly if you approach age 65.

The HSA is portable: it remains yours if you change employers or health plans, and unused balances carry over year to year.

Trustee Disclosures

HealthEquity, Inc. serves as custodian of your health savings account. Cash balances are held at FDIC-insured partner banks; invested balances are not FDIC insured and may lose value.

Account fees, if any, are described in your custodial agreement and fee schedule.

This statement is provided for informational and tax-reporting purposes and does not constitute tax or investment advice.

Recordkeeping and Contacts

Retain this Form 5498-SA with your tax records. Form 5498-SA reports contributions; it is filed with the IRS by the trustee and a copy is provided to you for your information.

Form 8889 must be filed with your Form 1040 in any year you or your employer make HSA contributions or you take a distribution. The HSA deduction for direct (after-tax) contributions is claimed on Schedule 1.

Keep documentation of all contributions and of medical expenses paid from the account for at least three years after you file the related return.

Member services and contributions questions: see the contact information on your account portal. Address corrections should be submitted through the portal or in writing.
