Instructions for Employee (Form W-2, 2025)

Box 1.

Enter this amount on the wages line of your tax return. It includes RSU compensation that vested during the year (also shown in Box 14).

Box 2.

Enter this amount on the federal income tax withheld line of your return. Supplemental wages such as RSU vesting are commonly withheld at the flat 22% federal rate, which may be below your marginal rate.

Box 3 and Box 5.

Social security and Medicare wages. If you had more than one employer and your combined social security wages exceeded the annual wage base ($176,100 for 2025), you may be entitled to a credit for excess social security tax withheld; figure it on Schedule 3.

Box 4 and Box 6.

Social security and Medicare taxes withheld. Additional Medicare Tax of 0.9% applies if your Medicare wages from all employers exceed $200,000 (single); it is figured on Form 8959. A single employer that did not exceed $200,000 will not have withheld it.

Box 12.

Code D — elective deferrals to a 401(k). If your total elective deferrals across all employers exceed the annual limit ($23,500 for 2025), the excess is generally included in your wages. Code W — employer and employee HSA contributions; report on Form 8889. Code DD — cost of employer-sponsored health coverage (informational only).

Box 13.

If the Retirement plan box is checked, special limits may apply to deductible IRA contributions.

Box 14.

Additional information such as RSU compensation already included in Boxes 1, 3, and 5, and state paid family leave (PFL) contributions.

Boxes 15-20.

State and local wage and tax information. Wages earned while a nonresident of a state may not be subject to that state's income tax withholding.

Notice to Employee (Form W-2, 2025)

Do you have to file?

Refer to the Form 1040 instructions to determine if you are required to file a return. Even if you are not required to file, you should file to obtain a refund if Box 2 shows federal income tax withheld.

Credit for excess social security tax.

If you had more than one employer in 2025 and the total social security tax withheld exceeded the maximum ($10,918.20 for 2025), you may claim the excess as a credit against your income tax on Schedule 3 (Form 1040).

Excess 401(k) elective deferrals.

If your combined Box 12 Code D deferrals exceed $23,500, you must include the excess in income for the year of deferral. Contact your plan administrator about a corrective distribution.

Restricted stock units.

The fair market value of RSUs at vesting is wage income already included in Box 1. When you later sell the shares, the broker-reported cost basis on Form 1099-B may exclude this income; use the adjusted basis from your stock plan supplemental to avoid double taxation.

Corrections.

If your name, SSN, or amounts are incorrect, ask your employer to file Form W-2c.

Cost of employer-sponsored coverage.

The Box 12 Code DD amount is informational only and does not affect your tax.

Box 12 & Box 14 Code Reference

Box 12 codes commonly seen.

A/B: uncollected social security/Medicare on tips. C: taxable cost of group-term life over $50,000. D: 401(k) elective deferrals. E: 403(b). G: 457(b). W: HSA contributions (employer + employee through cafeteria plan). DD: cost of employer-sponsored health coverage (informational). AA/BB/EE: Roth contributions to 401(k)/403(b)/governmental 457(b).

Code D detail.

Your elective deferrals reduce Box 1 but not Boxes 3 and 5 (they remain subject to social security and Medicare tax). This is why Box 5 minus Box 1 equals your Code D deferral for this employer.

Code W detail.

HSA amounts in Code W are already excluded from Boxes 1, 3, and 5 and are NOT separately deductible. Only direct (out-of-pocket) HSA contributions not run through payroll are deductible on Schedule 1.

Box 14 detail.

Employers use Box 14 for informational items: RSU income (already in Box 1), state disability/PFL, union dues, after-tax HSA, and similar. RSU amounts here should match the equity-compensation income on your stock plan supplemental.

General Information & Multiple-Employer Guidance

More than one employer this year.

When you change employers during the year, each employer withholds social security tax independently up to the wage base. Your combined withholding can therefore exceed the single-employer maximum, producing an excess social security credit claimed on Schedule 3 — it is not refunded automatically by either employer.

Relocation and state residency.

Wages earned after you cease to be a state resident are generally not subject to that state's withholding. Confirm your residency change date and allocate state wages accordingly. Federal tax still applies to your worldwide wages as a U.S. citizen.

Recordkeeping.

Keep Copy C and all supporting equity, HSA, and brokerage statements for at least three years after filing.

Where to get help.
