Helix Data Corp — Box-by-Box Explanation

Box 1 ($66,000.00) is federal taxable wages: gross pay reduced by pre-tax 401(k) ($12,000.00). Box 3 ($78,000.00) is Social Security wages, capped at the $176,100 wage base; 401(k) deferrals are NOT excluded from Social Security/Medicare wages, which is why Box 5 ($78,000.00) exceeds Box 1 by exactly the code-D deferral ($12,000.00). Box 4 ($4,836.00) = 6.2% of Box 3; Box 6 ($1,131.00) = 1.45% of Box 5.

Two-Employer Note

This is one of two 2025 W-2s. Because each employer withholds Social Security up to its own wage-base cap, the combined withholding across both jobs can exceed the single annual maximum ($10,918.20); any excess is recovered as a refundable credit on Schedule 3 of Form 1040. Additional Medicare Tax (0.9% above $200,000) is assessed on the combined Medicare wages at filing — no single employer withholds it unless that employer alone pays over $200,000.
