Instructions for Payee (Form 1099-K)

PayPal, Inc. (Venmo) — keep for your records

Instructions for Payee (Form 1099-K)

You received this form because you accepted payments through a payment card and/or a third party network (such as a rideshare platform, a marketplace, or a payment app). Box 1a shows the GROSS amount of those reportable payment transactions for the year.

Box 1a is GROSS, not net

Box 1a is the total dollar amount of payment transactions before any adjustments for fees, refunds, chargebacks, credits, or amounts you paid out. The amount you actually kept is almost always less than box 1a. Do not simply report box 1a as your taxable income. Instead, report your gross business receipts on Schedule C and then deduct your allowable business expenses (platform/service fees, commissions, refunds, mileage, supplies, and so on).

Personal payments

Form 1099-K should reflect payments for goods and services. If the gross amount includes money sent to you as a gift or reimbursement among friends and family, those amounts are not taxable income. Keep records that identify any non-business amounts so you can exclude them. If you cannot get a corrected form, report the full amount and then back out the non-business portion with an offsetting entry, keeping documentation.

Reconciling to your own records

Compare box 1a and the monthly boxes 5a-5l to your own payout records and bank deposits. The platform's gross figure includes amounts it withheld as its fee before paying you.

Multiple forms / shifting thresholds

Reporting thresholds for Form 1099-K changed several times. You may receive a 1099-K from one platform and not another even though both paid you, and a payment app may report amounts that overlap with a tip you also received elsewhere. Whether or not a 1099-K was issued, your income is taxable; conversely, receiving a 1099-K does not by itself make a personal transfer taxable.

Self-employment tax

Net profit from your activity is generally subject to self-employment tax (Schedule SE) in addition to income tax.

TOTAL Goods & Services (business income)				5,200.00
TOTAL Personal (friends & family — NOT income)				2,400.00
TOTAL reported on 1099-K box 1a				7,600.00

Only the Goods & Services total ($5,200.00) is taxable business income. The Personal/Friends-and-Family total ($2,400.00) consists of reimbursements and gifts and is NOT income, even though it is included in box 1a ($7,600.00).

Venmo — 2025 Transaction Category Detail

Goods & Services vs. Personal — keep for your records

Venmo (PayPal, Inc.) — 2025 Transaction Category Detail

Total gross reported on Form 1099-K, box 1a: $7,600.00.

Form 1099-K reports payments received for goods and services. Our records categorize the gross as follows:

- Goods & Services (business) payments received: $5,200.00
- Standard (personal / friends & family) transfers received: $2,400.00
- Total: $7,600.00

Personal transfers among friends and family — for example splitting rent, paying someone back, or a gift — are NOT taxable income. They may appear in box 1a if they were tagged or processed as goods-and-services, or because of how amounts were aggregated. Only the goods-and-services (business) portion is income to report on Schedule C.

If the business/personal split shown here does not match your records, review your activity statement in the app. To exclude personal amounts that were incorrectly included in box 1a, report the full 1099-K amount and then enter an offsetting adjustment for the non-business portion, retaining documentation.

Monthly detail

The boxes 5a-5l on the form show the gross by month. The goods-and-services and personal split above is across the full year.

Goods & Services vs. Friends & Family

Why this matters for taxes

Only goods-and-services payments are business income. Friends-and-family transfers (reimbursements, gifts, shared expenses) are not income, even if a 1099-K was issued.

Shifting thresholds

Because the 1099-K threshold changed for 2024, 2025, and later years, you may have received this form even though you would not have in a prior year. The form's existence does not convert personal transfers into taxable income.

Keep records

Identify each business payment and each personal transfer so you can report the correct amount.

Filing Tips for Payment App Income

Combine your goods-and-services total here with income reported by other platforms and on 1099-NEC to compute your photography gross receipts on Schedule C.

Do not add the full 1099-K box 1a to income if part of it is personal — that overstates your income and your tax.

Remember that platform fees, equipment, software, and mileage are deductible against this income.

Glossary & State Reporting

Glossary of Common Terms

Gross amount — the total of transactions before any fees, refunds, or adjustments.

Net earnings from self-employment — your business profit after expenses; the base for self-employment tax (after the 92.35% adjustment).

Schedule C — the form on which a sole proprietor reports business income and expenses.

Schedule SE — the form used to compute self-employment tax (Social Security and Medicare for the self-employed).

Standard mileage rate — a per-mile amount (70 cents for 2025) you may deduct for business use of your vehicle instead of actual expenses.

Section 179 — an election to expense the cost of qualifying business equipment in the year it is placed in service, instead of depreciating it over several years.

Estimated tax — quarterly payments of income and self-employment tax for income not subject to withholding.

Qualified business income (QBI) deduction — a deduction of up to 20% of qualified business income for eligible taxpayers.

State Reporting Notice

A copy of this information return may be furnished to the state revenue agency shown on the form. If state income tax was withheld, it is reported in the state boxes. Report your income on your state return as required.

Georgia residents: report your federal adjusted gross income and Georgia adjustments on Form 500. Georgia applies a flat individual income tax rate for the tax year. Self-employment income is included in Georgia taxable income.

Keep the state copy of this form with your records. If you moved during the year or earned income in more than one state, additional filing may be required.
