Each period: Social Security = 6.20% of gross; Medicare = 1.45% of gross; Georgia = 5.19% of gross; federal withholding per your W-4. Net = gross minus these. Because this part-time job withholds little federal tax, it will not cover income or self-employment tax on your gig income.

Employer-Paid Contributions (not deducted from you)

Contribution	Rate / base	This period	Year-to-date
Employer Social Security	6.20% of wages	45.14	406.26
Employer Medicare	1.45% of wages	10.56	95.04
Federal unemployment (FUTA)	0.60% on first $7,000	4.37	39.31
GA unemployment (SUI)	2.70% on first $9,500	19.66	176.90
TOTAL employer contributions		79.73	717.51

As an employee, your employer pays a matching 6.2% Social Security and 1.45% Medicare on your behalf. On your self-employment income you must pay BOTH halves yourself (that is the 15.3% self-employment tax), which is why your gig earnings carry a larger tax bite than these wages.

Taxable Wage Base Tracking (2026 YTD)

Tax	Annual wage base	YTD taxable wages	Remaining base

Understanding Your Pay Stub

Gross pay

Your total earnings before any taxes or deductions.

Social Security & Medicare (FICA)

Withheld at 6.2% and 1.45% of your wages. As an employee, your employer pays a matching share. If you also have self-employment income, you pay both halves of these taxes yourself through self-employment tax on that income.

Federal income tax

Based on the Form W-4 you filed. Because this job is part-time, withholding is modest and may not cover tax due on other income.

Georgia income tax

Georgia applies a flat individual income tax rate for 2025–2026.

Net pay

Gross pay minus all taxes and deductions; the amount deposited to your account.

A note for multi-income earners

Wages here are reported on your Form W-2. Income from rideshare, freelance work, and payment apps is reported separately (Forms 1099-NEC and 1099-K) and is not reflected on this stub.

Employer Notices

This advice reflects direct deposit to the account on file. Keep your address and Form W-4 current through the employee portal. Questions about your pay may be directed to payroll at (404) 555-0148. This document is for your records and is not filed with any tax authority.

Workplace posters, minimum-wage notices, and the employee handbook are available in the break room and the employee portal. Georgia minimum wage follows the federal rate; tipped-wage rules may apply to certain positions.

Direct Deposit Allocation

100% of net pay is deposited to checking account XXXXXX2231 at Peachtree Community Bank.

To change your allocation or add a second account, update your election in the employee portal at least one pay cycle in advance.

Pay is issued biweekly; 2026 has 26 scheduled pay dates.

Tax Withholding Elections on File

Federal Form W-4: Single; no dependents claimed; no extra withholding requested. Step 2 (multiple jobs) not checked.

Georgia Form G-4: Single; standard allowances.

Because this is part-time work, withholding is modest. If you have other income (for example self-employment), consider increasing withholding here or making estimated tax payments to avoid a balance due.

To change your elections, submit an updated W-4 and G-4 through the portal.

Benefits Summary

As a part-time employee you are eligible for Georgia paid sick time accrual and the employee meal discount.

Health insurance and retirement plan participation are not offered at your current status.

Employee Assistance Program (EAP) resources are available confidentially at the number in the portal.
