Tax treatment of distributions

Qualified withdrawals for tuition, required fees, room & board (if at least half-time), and books are federal-income-tax-free. The earnings portion of any NON-qualified withdrawal is taxable as ordinary income to the recipient and is subject to an additional 10%% federal tax. The 10%% penalty is waived (earnings still taxable) to the extent of a tax-free scholarship, education tax credit used, or attendance at a US service academy.

Non-qualified withdrawal illustration

If you withdraw (non-qualified)	Earnings portion (28.36%)	10% additional tax
$5,000.00	$1,418.00	$141.80
$10,000.00	$2,836.00	$283.60
$15,000.00	$4,254.00	$425.40

Colorado note: amounts previously deducted on the CO return may be RECAPTURED (added back to CO taxable income) if withdrawn for non-qualified purposes. The figures above are illustrative only and do not reflect any actual distribution.
