Form 1099-B — Proceeds from Broker Transactions

Short-term and long-term transactions are reported separately. Review the cost-basis column carefully: basis for shares acquired through your employer stock plan (RSU/ESPP) may NOT be reported to the IRS and may require adjustment on Form 8949.

Part I — Short-Term Transactions for which basis WAS reported to the IRS (Box A)

Description	Acq.	Sold	Proceeds	Basis reported	Wash sale disallowed	Reported G/(L)
95 sh VFWX (Vanguard FTSE All-World ex-US)	09/02/25	10/15/25	4,200.00	4,800.00	600.00	0.00
40 sh BND (Vanguard Total Bond Market ETF)	01/20/25	08/05/25	2,850.00	2,990.00		(140.00)

Wash-sale loss disallowed amounts are reported to the IRS in box 1g for covered securities. A disallowed loss is added to the basis of the replacement shares.

Part II — Long-Term Transactions for which basis WAS reported to the IRS (Box D)

Description	Acq.	Sold	Proceeds	Basis reported	Wash sale disallowed	Reported G/(L)
60 sh VTSAX (Vanguard Total Stock Mkt Index)	03/11/22	06/24/25	7,800.00	5,400.00		2,400.00
25 sh VTSAX (Vanguard Total Stock Mkt Index)	05/30/23	09/18/25	3,200.00	2,100.00		1,100.00

Part II — Long-Term Transactions for which basis was NOT reported to the IRS (Box E)

Description	Acq.	Sold	Proceeds	Basis reported	Wash sale disallowed	Reported G/(L)
120 sh CASC (Cascade Data Systems Inc)	08/14/23	11/06/25	14,400.00	Not reported		—

Basis for Box E lots was not reported because the shares were acquired under an equity-compensation plan. Determine cost basis from your own records (for restricted stock, the fair-market value included in wages at vest).

Totals by category	Proceeds	Reported basis	Wash disallowed
Short-term (Box A)	7,050.00	7,790.00	600.00
Long-term (Box D)	11,000.00	7,500.00	0.00
Long-term (Box E)	14,400.00	Not reported	0.00

Important Tax Reporting Reminders

- Cost basis. For covered securities, basis is reported to the IRS. For noncovered securities and equity-compensation shares, basis may be missing or shown as $0.00; the box reflects what was reported to us, not necessarily your actual basis.
- Wash sales. A loss is disallowed when substantially identical securities are purchased within 30 days before or after the sale. Disallowed losses increase the basis of the replacement shares.
- Qualified dividends are taxed at long-term capital gain rates if holding-period requirements are met.
- Scope. This form reports only activity in your U.S. brokerage account. Income earned in accounts held outside the United States is not reflected here.

Foreign-Source Income

This U.S. brokerage account paid no foreign taxes during the year; box 7 of Form 1099-DIV is $0.00.
Income earned in accounts held outside the United States is not reflected on this form.

Cost-Basis Reporting: Covered vs. Noncovered Securities

Covered securities are those for which brokers are required to report adjusted cost basis to the IRS. Generally, equities acquired on or after January 1, 2011, and mutual fund shares acquired on or after January 1, 2012, are covered.

Noncovered securities and shares acquired through an employer equity-compensation plan may have cost basis that is not reported to the IRS.

For shares acquired through an employer stock plan, the broker-reported basis is frequently $0.00 or reflects only amounts paid out of pocket. Your own records and stock-plan documents reflect the basis applicable to those shares.

Wash sales: when a loss sale has a replacement purchase of a substantially identical security within 30 days, the disallowed amount is reported in box 1g for covered lots.

Tax Information Glossary

Ordinary dividends — distributions of money or property from a corporation's earnings, taxed at ordinary rates unless qualified.

Qualified dividends — dividends meeting holding-period and other requirements, taxed at the 0%/15%/20% long-term capital gain rates.

Capital gain distribution — a distribution of net long-term capital gains realized by a regulated investment company (mutual fund), reported on Schedule D line 13.

Proceeds — the gross amount received from a sale, before subtracting cost basis and selling expenses.

Holding period — the length of time you owned the security; more than one year is long-term.

Important Disclosures

This consolidated statement combines amounts that may be reported to you and to the IRS on separate forms. Retain it with your tax records.

If a corrected statement is issued, it will be marked CORRECTED and supersedes amounts previously reported. Corrected statements are sometimes issued after the original mailing as issuers finalize income reclassifications.

Securities products are not FDIC insured, are not bank guaranteed, and may lose value. Vanguard Brokerage Services is a division of Vanguard Marketing Corporation, member FINRA/SIPC.
