Instructions for Recipient (Form 1099-NEC)

Vanta Mobility, Inc. — keep for your records

Box 1

Shows nonemployee compensation. Because you are not treated as an employee for these payments, the payer did not withhold social security, Medicare, or (usually) income tax. The amount is generally reported on Schedule C and is subject to self-employment tax on Schedule SE.

These are incentive payments

Vanta reports your quest bonuses, referral rewards, and promotional incentives here. They are part of your rideshare business gross receipts. Combine box 1 with your 1099-K gross fares when figuring Schedule C gross receipts.

Self-employment tax

Net earnings of $400 or more from self-employment generally require you to file Schedule SE and pay self-employment tax (12.4% social security up to the wage base plus 2.9% Medicare, on 92.35% of net earnings). One-half of that tax is deductible in figuring your AGI.

Estimated tax

Because nothing was withheld, you may need to make quarterly estimated payments to avoid a balance due and an underpayment penalty (Form 2210).

Payer Statement & Contact

Vanta Mobility, Inc. issued this Form 1099-NEC to report incentive and bonus payments made to you during 2025 that are separate from passenger fares (which appear on your Form 1099-K).

Questions about an amount? Visit the Driver Tax Center in the app or call (888) 555-0199. We cannot give tax advice; for help preparing your return, consult a tax professional or IRS Free File.

Reminder: keep this with your other 2025 tax records. You will report this amount on the same Schedule C as your rideshare fares.

Self-Employment Tax — Worked Example (general)

This page is general education and does not reflect your specific numbers.

Suppose a driver has $10,000 of net profit on Schedule C. Net earnings subject to SE tax = $$10,000 \times 92.35\% = $9,235$. SE tax = $$9,235 \times 15.3\% = $1,413$. One-half ($707) is deducted in figuring AGI. The remaining income tax is computed separately on the rest of taxable income.

The key point: self-employment tax applies even when income tax is low, so a worker who only had a little income tax withheld at a W-2 job can still owe a meaningful balance from SE tax alone.

Vanta Mobility — 2025 Incentive Payment Detail
