How to Read Your Pay Statement

The Pay Summary shows current and year-to-date gross pay, deductions, taxes, and net pay. Earnings lists each type of pay with its rate and hours. Pre-Tax Deductions reduce your taxable wages. Taxes Withheld shows each tax, the wages it applies to, and the amount. Net Pay Distribution shows where your pay was deposited. Year-to-date columns accumulate from January 1.

Tax Withholding Methodology

Federal income tax. Federal withholding is computed using the IRS percentage method based on the Form W-4 you filed, your taxable wages for the period, and the pay frequency. Because withholding is an annualized estimate, the amount withheld each period may not equal your eventual tax liability; you reconcile the difference when you file your federal return, receiving a refund if too much was withheld or paying a balance if too little was.

Social Security. Social Security tax is withheld at 6.20% of Social Security wages up to the annual wage base of $176,100 for 2025 (and the indexed amount for 2026). Once your year-to-date Social Security wages reach the wage base, no further Social Security tax is withheld for the remainder of the year.

Medicare. Medicare tax is withheld at 1.45% of all Medicare wages with no wage cap, plus an Additional Medicare Tax of 0.90% on wages above the applicable threshold ($200,000 for most single and head-of-household employees).

New Jersey income tax. New Jersey withholding is computed from the New Jersey withholding tables based on your NJ-W4 and your New Jersey taxable wages. The effective rate shown is approximate and varies with your year-to-date wages.

Understanding Your Deductions

Deductions are taken in a specific order. Pre-tax deductions (such as your 403(b) elective deferral and any pre-tax benefit premiums) are subtracted before income tax is calculated, lowering your federal taxable wages. Mandatory taxes (Social Security, Medicare, federal and state income tax) are then withheld. Post-tax deductions, if any, are taken last. Your earnings statement lists every deduction so you can verify each one.

Deduction code	Description	Tax treatment
403B	403(b) elective deferral	Pre-tax retirement contribution
FIT	Federal income tax	Mandatory withholding
SS	Social Security (OASDI)	Mandatory; 6.2% to wage base
MED	Medicare	Mandatory; 1.45% (+0.9% over threshold)
NJ SIT	New Jersey income tax	Mandatory withholding
NJ FLI	Family Leave Insurance	Mandatory NJ contribution
NJ UI/WF	Unemployment/Workforce funds	Mandatory NJ contribution

Time, Attendance, and Overtime Policy

Non-exempt employees must record all hours worked accurately and approve their time each pay period. Overtime is paid at one-and-one-half times the regular rate for hours worked over 40 in a workweek, in accordance with the Fair Labor Standards Act and New Jersey law. Meal and rest periods are provided according to policy. Falsifying time records is prohibited and may result in discipline up to and including termination.

Shift Differential and Premium Pay Policy

Employees who work qualifying night and weekend shifts receive shift differentials in addition to base pay, as shown in the Earnings section. Differentials are part of gross wages, are fully taxable, and are included in the regular rate for overtime calculation as required by law. Differential rates are set by policy and may be revised with notice.

Direct Deposit and Pay Distribution Policy

Pay is delivered by direct deposit to the account(s) you designate. You may split your net pay among multiple accounts. Changes to your direct-deposit instructions generally take effect within one pay cycle; during the transition a paper check may be issued. It is your responsibility to keep your banking information current. If a deposit is rejected because of incorrect information you provided, reissuance may be delayed.

Garnishments and Income-Withholding Orders

If the employer receives a valid court or agency order, such as a child-support income-withholding order or a tax levy, we are legally required to withhold and remit the specified amounts from your pay. Such withholdings are itemized on your earnings statement. Questions about an order should be directed to the issuing agency.

New Jersey Wage and Hour Notices

Earned Sick Leave. You accrue New Jersey earned sick leave at one hour for every 30 hours worked, up to 40 hours per benefit year, usable for covered health and safety reasons.

Family Leave Insurance and Temporary Disability. Your FLI contribution is withheld and shown on your statement and W-2. New Jersey TDI provides wage replacement for non-work-related illness or injury; the employee TDI rate is 0.00% for 2025.

Minimum Wage and Wage Payment. You are paid at or above the applicable New Jersey minimum wage for all hours worked and have the right to a statement of deductions each pay period under the New Jersey Wage Payment Law.

Year-End and Form W-2 Preparation

Your year-to-date totals on your final pay statement of the year correspond to the amounts reported on your annual Form W-2. Review your final statement and report any discrepancy to the Payroll Department before W-2s are issued in January.

In addition to your pay, the employer provides benefits with significant value. The following annualized amounts are employer-paid and are not part of your taxable wages.

Employer share of Social Security & Medicare	$6,462.72
Group medical premium (employer portion)	$9,600.00

Required Workplace Notices

Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). Covered non-exempt employees are entitled to the federal minimum wage and overtime pay of at least one-and-one-half times the regular rate for hours over 40 per workweek.

Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA). Eligible employees may take up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave per year for specified family and medical reasons, with continuation of group health coverage.

USERRA. Employees who serve in the uniformed services have reemployment rights and protection from discrimination based on service.

Employee Polygraph Protection Act (EPPA). Most private employers may not require or request employees to take a lie-detector test or discharge employees for refusing.

Equal Employment Opportunity. Federal and New Jersey law prohibit employment discrimination based on protected characteristics. The employer is committed to a workplace free from discrimination and harassment.

Occupational Safety and Health (OSHA). You have the right to a safe workplace and to report unsafe conditions without retaliation.

New Jersey Notices. Earned Sick Leave, Family Leave Insurance, Temporary Disability, the SAFE Act, the Conscientious Employee Protection Act (CEPA), and wage-payment protections apply as posted.

Retirement Plan Education

Participating in your 403(b) is one of the most effective ways to build long-term financial security. Contributions are deducted automatically, reducing your current federal taxable wages, and your investments grow tax-deferred until you take distributions in retirement.

Two principles can help: contribute consistently to capture compounding over time, and diversify across asset classes appropriate to your time horizon and risk tolerance. Many participants use a single diversified target-date fund that automatically becomes more conservative as the target year approaches. Capturing the full employer match, where one is offered, is especially valuable because it is additional compensation.

Review your contribution rate at least once a year and after any pay change. The plan recordkeeper offers calculators and educational resources to help you set a rate aligned with your retirement goals.

Compensation and Pay Structure

Your compensation consists of base pay for your role plus shift differentials for qualifying night and weekend hours. Pay ranges are based on role, experience, and market data, and are reviewed periodically. Differentials recognize the demands of off-peak scheduling and are paid in addition to base pay.

Payroll and Wage-Statement Notices

About this statement. This earnings statement details your gross pay, pre-tax and post-tax deductions, taxes withheld, and net pay for the pay period shown, along with year-to-date totals. Retain it for your records and for reconciling your annual Form W-2.

Federal income tax withholding. Federal income tax is withheld based on the Form W-4 you filed and the IRS percentage-method tables. Withholding is an estimate of your annual tax; your actual liability is determined when you file your federal return. Review your withholding if your circumstances change.

Social Security and Medicare. Social Security tax is withheld at 6.2% of wages up to the annual wage base; Medicare tax is withheld at 1.45% of all wages, plus an Additional Medicare Tax of 0.9% on wages above the applicable threshold. These are mandatory FICA contributions.

Pre-tax deductions. Elective retirement contributions and certain benefit premiums are itemized separately on your statement. Your gross pay, each deduction, the taxes withheld, and your net pay are shown with year-to-date totals.

Direct deposit. Net pay is deposited to the account(s) you designated. Allow one pay cycle for changes to take effect. Notify Payroll promptly of any change to your banking information.

Year-end Form W-2. Your wages and withholding for the calendar year are reported to you and to taxing authorities on Form W-2 in January. Year-to-date figures on your final pay statement of the year should reconcile to your W-2, subject to non-cash and imputed items.

Questions about your pay. Direct questions to the Ironbound Regional Medical Center Payroll Department. Report any discrepancy promptly so it can be corrected in a timely manner.

Hardware and software. To access and retain electronic records you need a current web browser, internet access, a valid email address, and the ability to view and save PDF documents. Standard message and data rates may apply.

Withdrawing consent. You may withdraw your consent to electronic delivery at any time and request paper copies by contacting us; a per-item fee may apply for paper copies as shown in the Schedule of Fees and Charges. Withdrawing consent will not affect the legal validity of records provided electronically before withdrawal.

Keeping records current. You agree to keep your email address and contact information current so that we can deliver electronic records to you. We are not responsible for non-delivery caused by an out-of-date address.

Retention. Electronic records remain available for at least the period required by law and generally for the most recent statement periods through online banking; you should download and retain copies for your records.

Net Pay — Worked Example

Your pay is calculated in steps. Start with gross earnings, subtract pre-tax deductions to get the federal taxable wage base, then subtract each tax, then any post-tax deductions, to arrive at net pay.

Step	Description	Amount
1	Gross earnings (regular + differentials)	$3,520.00
2	Less: 403(b) elective deferral (pre-tax for federal)	- $211.20
3	Federal taxable wage base for this period	$3,308.80
4	Less: Social Security (6.2% of gross)	- $218.24
5	Less: Medicare (1.45% of gross)	- $51.04
6	Less: Federal income tax withheld	- $175.00
7	Less: New Jersey income tax withheld	- $102.43

Step	Description	Amount
8	Net pay deposited	$2,762.09

Each step shows how net pay is derived from gross earnings for this pay period.

Payroll Privacy Notice

The employer collects and uses your personal and financial information solely to administer your pay and benefits and to meet legal obligations. Access is limited to authorized personnel and service providers bound by confidentiality obligations. We use administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to protect your information and retain it only as long as necessary or as required by law. Contact Human Resources to review or correct your information.

Open Enrollment and Qualifying Life Events

You may change most benefit elections during the annual open-enrollment period. Outside open enrollment, you may make changes only within 30 days of a qualifying life event, such as marriage, divorce, the birth or adoption of a child, a change in your or a family member's employment, or loss of other coverage. Some payroll changes, such as your 403(b) contribution rate and your tax withholding, can be made at any time through the self-service portal.

Because a change in dependents can affect both your benefits and your tax withholding, review your Form W-4 and beneficiary designations after any family change. Keep documentation of qualifying events in case it is requested.

Workers' Compensation and Continuation Coverage

Workers' Compensation. If you are injured on the job, you may be entitled to workers' compensation benefits regardless of fault. Report any work-related injury or illness to your supervisor immediately so a claim can be filed.

COBRA / NJ Continuation. If your group health coverage ends because of a qualifying event such as a reduction in hours or separation from employment, you may continue coverage for a limited period at your own expense under federal COBRA or New Jersey continuation law.

Unemployment Insurance. If you become unemployed through no fault of your own, you may be eligible for New Jersey unemployment benefits. Your UI/WF/SWF contributions help fund these programs.

2026 Projected Annual Pay Schedule

This projection assumes your current rate, hours, and elections continue unchanged for all 24 periods. Actual pay will vary with hours worked, differentials, election changes, and the Social Security wage-base cap.

Your Rights Regarding Pay Records

Under the New Jersey Wage Payment Law and the Wage Theft Act, you have the right to be paid all wages due on regular paydays, to receive an itemized statement of deductions each pay period, and to be free from retaliation for asserting wage rights. You may request copies of your pay records. If you believe you have not been paid correctly, contact Payroll first; you may also contact the New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development.

Using the IRS Tax Withholding Estimator

If you received a large refund or owed a balance last year, the IRS Tax Withholding Estimator at irs.gov can help you check whether your federal withholding matches your expected tax. You will need your most recent pay statement and your prior-year return. After using the estimator, you can submit an updated Form W-4 to adjust your withholding. A change in dependents, filing status, or credits you expect to claim can change the right amount to withhold.

Statement Archive and Duplicate Requests

Current and prior pay statements are available through the employee self-service portal. You may view, download, and print copies at any time for the periods supported by the portal. If you need a statement that predates portal coverage, contact Payroll. Retain your final statement of each year with your tax records.

Questions, Corrections, and Escalation

If you believe your pay or a deduction is incorrect, contact the Payroll Department promptly with your employee ID and a description of the issue. Most discrepancies can be corrected in the next pay cycle. If a correction affects a prior year, a corrected Form W-2 (W-2c) may be issued. For benefits questions, contact Human Resources; for 403(b) balances and investments, contact the plan recordkeeper. Keep this statement with your records.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q. Why doesn't my net pay times 24 equal my salary?

Differentials and hours vary by period, and pre-tax and tax amounts change as year-to-date wage bases grow, so periods are not all identical.

Q. How do I read the wage-base column?

Each tax is applied to the wage base shown next to it for the period; bases may differ by tax.

Q. How do I change my withholding?

Submit a new federal Form W-4 or New Jersey Form NJ-W4 through the self-service portal or to Payroll.

Q. When will I get my W-2?

By January 31 for the prior calendar year; year-to-date totals on your final December statement should reconcile to it.

Q. How do I update direct deposit?

Update your banking information in the self-service portal; allow one pay cycle for changes to take effect.
