Plan Disclosures, Fees & Glossary

Plan administrative and recordkeeping fees are deducted from participant accounts as disclosed in the plan's annual fee disclosure (404a-5). Investment expenses are reflected in each fund's net asset value. This account is not FDIC insured, is not a deposit, and may lose value.

As a former employee, the participant may keep the balance in the plan (if permitted), roll it over to an IRA or a new employer's plan, or take a distribution (which may be taxable and subject to a 10% additional tax if under age 59½). Required minimum distributions generally begin at age 73. Consult a tax adviser before taking any distribution or rollover.

Vesting: the participant is 100% vested in the account balance. Beneficiary designations on file govern the disposition of the account upon death; review and update beneficiaries after major life events.

Glossary: 'expense ratio' is the annual fund operating cost as a percentage of assets; 'allocation' is the percentage of the account held in each investment; 'vested' means the portion of the account the participant owns and may keep upon leaving the employer.

Plan Disclosures (404a-5 Fee Disclosure & Summary Plan Information)

1. General plan information. This account is held under the named employer's 401(k) plan. As a former employee you may generally leave your balance in the plan (if the balance exceeds the plan's cash-out threshold), roll it over to an IRA or another eligible plan, or request a distribution. Investment direction remains with you among the plan's designated alternatives.

2. Investment-related fees and expenses. Each designated investment alternative bears an annual operating expense (expense ratio) reflected in its return. The total annual operating expenses for each option, expressed as a percentage and per $1,000 invested, are shown in the fee table and on the fund fact sheets.

3. Administrative expenses. The plan may charge recordkeeping and administrative fees, allocated pro rata or per participant; any such fees actually charged to your account are reflected on your statement. Individual transaction fees may apply to specific services such as loans or distributions.

4. Right to direct investments. You may change how your account is invested among the plan's designated alternatives subject to any frequent-trading restrictions disclosed by the funds. Changes are generally effective as of the close of the business day if received in good order.

5. Distributions and taxes. Distributions from a traditional 401(k) are generally taxable as ordinary income and may be subject to a 10% additional tax if taken before age 59½. Required minimum distributions generally begin at age 73. A direct rollover avoids current taxation and mandatory withholding.

6. Vesting and beneficiaries. You are 100% vested in your account. Your beneficiary designation on file controls the disposition of the account on death; review it after major life events. Spousal-consent rules may apply to certain beneficiary designations.

7. Performance and risk. Investment returns are not guaranteed; values fluctuate with the markets and may be worth more or less than the amounts contributed. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Diversification does not assure a profit or protect against loss.

8. Obtaining more information. A copy of the Summary Plan Description, the latest prospectuses, and the comparative chart of designated investment alternatives are available from the plan administrator or the recordkeeper at no charge upon request.
