

SANDIA VISTA PUBLIC SCHOOLS — EMPLOYEE PAY STATEMENTS

Pay Statements — January through June 2026 (semimonthly)

Employee: Marisol Vega-Holloway SSN XXX-XX-7732 • Employee ID SVPS-44021

Employer: Sandia Vista Public Schools, 4400 Cutler Ave NE, Albuquerque, NM 87110

Position: Principal • Pay frequency: Semimonthly (24 periods/yr) • 2026 annual salary: $99,360.00

Statements included: Pay periods 1–12 (January 15 – June 30, 2026)

These are current-year (2026) pay statements. A salary adjustment took effect January 1, 2026, so per-period amounts differ from the 2025 Form W-2. Each statement is computed for its own period at statutory FICA, Medicare, and New Mexico withholding rates. Net pay is direct-deposited to the employee's checking account on file; the amounts match the payroll deposits shown on the bank statement.

Per-period figure	Amount	Basis
Gross salary	$4,140.00	Annual salary / 24
NMERB 414(h) pick-up	$442.98	10.7% of gross (pre-tax fed; FICA-taxable)
Section 125 health (med/den/vis)	$325.00	Pre-tax federal/state and FICA-exempt
Social security	$236.53	6.2% of FICA wages $3,815.00
Medicare	$55.32	1.45% of FICA wages
NM state withholding	$92.73	NM table on period wages
Federal withholding	$150.00	Per Form W-4 (dependents claimed)
Net pay (direct deposit)	$2,837.44	Gross less all deductions

Each period's net pay of $2,837.44 appears as a payroll direct-deposit credit on the checking-account statement (two per month). Social security year-to-date wages remain far below the 2026 wage base, so social security is withheld at the full 6.2% in every period shown.

Through pay period 12 (June 30, 2026): year-to-date gross $49,680.00, net $34,049.28. Net pay per period is $2,837.44; this is the amount direct-deposited and shown as a payroll credit twice each month on the checking-account statement.

Notes on reading your pay statement

Pre-tax deductions (414(h) and Section 125 premiums) reduce federal and state taxable wages. The 414(h) amount remains subject to social security and Medicare tax.

Federal withholding reflects the dependents claimed on your Form W-4 and is intentionally modest; your final liability is determined when you file your income-tax return.

Year-to-date figures reset each January 1. These statements cover January through June 2026 only.

Taxable wages & withholding explanation

Each pay statement shows two taxable-wage bases. Federal and New Mexico taxable wages equal gross pay minus your pre-tax NMERB 414(h) contribution and your Section 125 medical, dental, and vision premiums. Social security and Medicare wages equal gross pay minus the Section 125 premiums only, because 414(h) contributions remain subject to FICA.

Social security tax is withheld at 6.2% of social security wages up to the annual wage base; year-to-date social security wages shown on these statements remain well below the base, so the full 6.2% applies each period. Medicare is withheld at 1.45% with no wage cap.

Federal income tax withholding is computed from the Form W-4 on file using the percentage method; because dependents are claimed, per-period federal withholding is modest. New Mexico income tax is withheld using the state Head of Household withholding table. Withholding is an estimate; your actual tax is determined on your return.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why is my net pay the same every period?

Your salary is paid in 24 equal semimonthly installments, and your pre-tax deductions and withholding are level, so net pay is the same each period unless you change a benefit election or your Form W-4, or a mid-year rate change occurs.

Why are my social security and Medicare wages higher than my federal taxable wages?

Your NMERB 414(h) contributions are excluded from federal and state income tax but are still subject to social security and Medicare tax. Your Section 125 premiums are excluded from both income tax and FICA.

Will social security tax stop later in the year?

Social security tax stops once your year-to-date social security wages reach the annual wage base. Your projected annual social security wages are below the base, so the tax continues at 6.2% for the full year.

My federal withholding seems low. Why?

Federal withholding is based on the Form W-4 you filed. Because you claimed dependents, the system reduces per-period withholding. Review your W-4 if you expect a balance due or want a larger refund.

How do I change my direct deposit or benefit elections?

Use the employee self-service portal or contact Payroll Services. Changes generally take effect the following pay period.

When will I receive my Form W-2?

Form W-2 for 2026 will be issued by January 31, 2027. Keep your final 2026 pay statement to reconcile against it.

What is the NMERB employer contribution shown on my statement?

It is the amount your employer contributes to the pension fund on your behalf (18.2% of gross). It is not deducted from your pay and is shown for information only.
