Accounting Method & Notes

Books are maintained on the cash method: income is recorded when received and expenses when paid. The business has no inventory and no employees. One asset (a laptop computer placed in service January 2025) was acquired during the year; the proprietor intends to elect first-year expensing, reflected in the ledger as a single depreciation line. No vehicle was placed in service for the business; vehicle costs are tracked under the standard mileage method using the contemporaneous log above.

Receipts are evidenced by client invoices and the bank deposit reconciliation. Expenses are evidenced by card and bank records and retained receipts. The proprietor maintains a separate folder of receipts indexed by category; this compilation summarizes those records.

Business Use of Home — Reference

The proprietor maintains a dedicated home office used regularly and exclusively for the consulting business. Two methods are available to account for home-office costs; the inputs for each are provided so the method can be selected during return preparation. No home-office amount is included in the expense ledger above.

Input	Amount / Detail
Total home square footage	2,180 sq ft
Exclusive-use office square footage	210 sq ft
Business-use percentage	9.63%
Annual mortgage interest (whole home)	3,208.20
Annual property tax (whole home)	6,800.00
Annual homeowner's insurance	1,450.00
Annual utilities (whole home)	3,180.00
Annual repairs & maintenance (whole home)	640.00

Note: home-office expenses that are also itemizable (mortgage interest, property tax) are allocated between business and personal use only if the actual-expense method is chosen; otherwise the simplified method may be used. The selection affects which figures flow to the business versus personal portions of the return.

		TOTAL (reconciles to mileage method)	1842

Total business miles: 1842. The standard mileage rate for 2025 is $0.70 per mile; the resulting amount is recorded under Car & truck on the expense ledger.

Fixed Asset Register

Asset	Date Placed in Service	Cost	Business Use	Method
Dell Latitude laptop (work computer)	2025-01-20	1,180.00	100%	First-year expensing election
Multifunction printer (home office)	2022-08-01	410.00	100%	Prior-year, fully expensed

Only the laptop was acquired in 2025. The proprietor intends to elect first-year expensing rather than multi-year depreciation; this is reflected as a single line on the expense ledger and should be confirmed at the time of return preparation.
